Blueberry is a currant fruit, and its homeland is the northern hemisphere. The misty surface of the blue nut, which can be in various colors from blue to cherry red or blackish purple, protects the fruit like a jacket. It is delicious, soft and juicy. The size of the blueberry grains is not an indicator of quality and maturity. The color of the fruit grains gets sweeter as they darken. Blueberry grown in the Black Sea Region in our country is known as blueberry in the world. There are also names such as "mosi" in Ardahan, "likapa" in Rize, and bearberry in Giresun, tea currant or shepherd's grape.
